TOP-3 arguments

for a Starke-DMS®

- Customer proximity – everyone is involved!
Each new version includes new features that you have suggested to us as a customer. Over 76% of the new features are direct customer requests!

- Simplicity as a philosophy
After all, nothing is more difficult than implementing simplicity in a sensible way! But we manage it.

The worlds of work and IT landscapes today are more multifaceted than ever before. But Starke-DMS® also adapts to your internal resources and is cloud capable!

How do my photos and reports automatically reach the right project, customer or colleague...? It's no problem at all with Starke-DMS®.

All business-relevant processes are mapped transparently, flexibly and securely. This ensures that no information is lost.

Why Starke-DMS®?

Independent and user-orientated

Independent customers - Everything can be implemented autonomously.

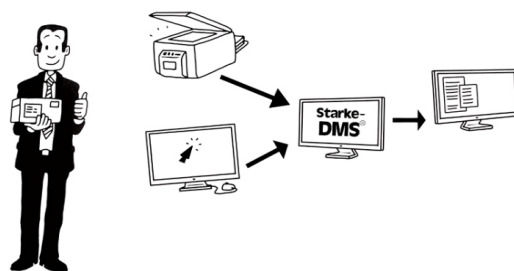

“We let others steal our thunder!”: Although it goes against popular business management textbook wisdom, we have developed a solution concept that makes our customers completely independent. Even from ourselves!

Each customer retains full freedom at all times to expand the system with additional modules or to set up and adapt all workflows themselves in order to be able to work sensibly with Starke-DMS®.

User-orientation

IT made in Kassel

Quality is our basis

Software must satisfy your highest expectations

High quality standards and a multitude of alpha and beta testers guarantee technically mature new versions of our Starke-DMS®.

Developing bad quality software and then talking it up is not our thing, because we want to be able to sleep at night

This is the reason why we set the highest possible quality standards for software and service.

This allows us to react quickly and directly to new challenges and tasks.

Archiving and retrieval at the push of a button

More and more correspondence is created with Microsoft Office programs and is frequently edited and changed during its life cycle.

Attempts at version control such as "Datei_neu.docx" usually quickly fail – the overview is quickly lost.

Starke-DMS® already offers integration in the Microsoft Office programs as standard.

When you call up a document, you always see the current version, even if there are many older versions.

Files can be directly archived in Starke-DMS® at the click of a button, subsequently researched and edited again, then assigned to the workflow.

Document identification

Automatic information editing

- Who has sent the received invoice?
- Is it mathematically correct?
- Do we have an order for it?
- Have the goods been received?

The answers are given to you by our fully automatic Starke-DMS® document identification!

We show you exactly how this works with your own documents.

We would be happy to answer these and other questions in a personal conversation!
